AUTHORITY (PARTNER/SPOUSE)

EX. I NEED TO TALK TO MY PARTNER/SPOUSE PART 2 - PERMISSION GIVEN/NOT NEEDED

Do they approve of your current struggle? Well, why would they be against something they don't approve of?

What if the roles were reversed and your partner was struggling with [problem] and they found something that was going to help them. Would you be against it?

So why would it be different for them.

I think the thing is, you're looking for permission. Not for support.

Let's play this out. A year from now you don't hit your goal and all the while you blame them because they never let you do it. Is that fair to them?

Do you think your partner will support you in solving this problem you're saying he/she doesn't approve of?

Remind them about your guarantee.
